

Workshop

PVC bead with adjustment angle

PVC bead with adjustment angle is easily fitted to various angle edges and enables forming of precise edges resistant to mechanical damage. In addition to mechanical protection, it is quick and simple to work with and provides ideally straight arris. It is used for all types of edges on thermal insulation façade systems where "L"-shaped PVC beads cannot be used due to angle irregularities (90° angle).

